

Pathways: Financing Higher Education

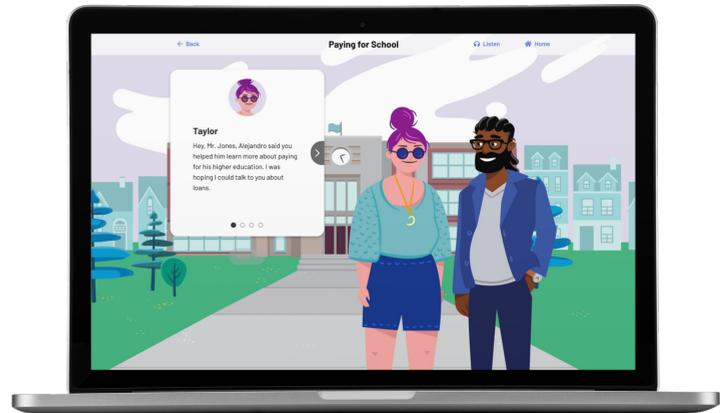

FREE DIGITAL LESSONS

Smart Money Skills for Teens

Research shows Gen Z learners are increasingly aware and wary of accumulating debt, yet may not have the appropriate knowledge to navigate good lending terms or determining return on investment when it relates to a college education.

Pathways: Financing Higher Education is a digital program that empowers students to become informed consumers and make wise financial decisions when choosing how to pay for their post-secondary education.

Paying for School Activity

THE LEARNING EXPERIENCE

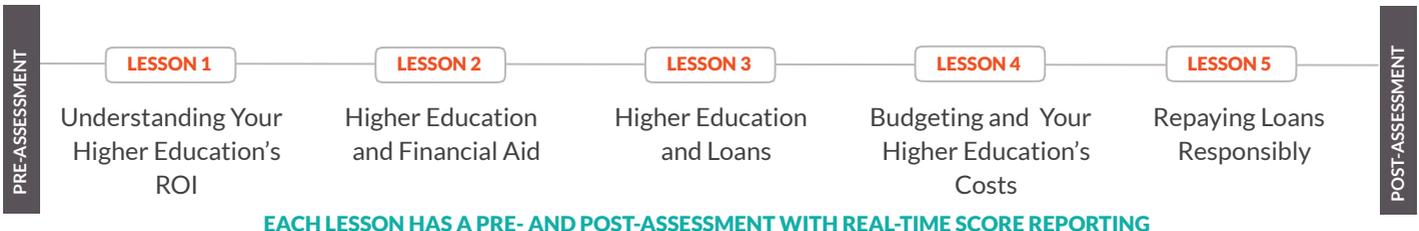

- Self-graded, interactive lessons help students develop simple, actionable strategies for financing their post-secondary education.
- Real-world scenarios prime students for long-term behavioral change.
- Self-reflection activities allow students to process what they learned.
- Detailed score reports and offline extension activities help teachers maximize their impact across all students.
